“What vivid memories we cherish of Ms. Pickarts. Like her dear bird Polly use to call out to her "Ms. Pickarts wake up", "Ms. Pickarts can't you see". She took the challenge of following God's call to cast her net in a small town - Moyamba where she became a fisher of men. With a pattern of humility and a flame of charity, we received the graces and blessings God bestowed upon her. A mirror of perfect obedience, a respectful listener to others, she portrayed Romans 8:28 - "And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to His purpose".

Thank you Ms. Pickarts. We will live to tell your story. May God grant you eternal rest and peace. We love you and will miss you dearly.

“ Miss Pickarts was a real blessing to our family (Verghese Family) where myself , Mom and Dad (Mr & Mrs Verghese) and my two sisters Ejie and Jiji spent our childhood days, back in Moyamba Harford school. A true servant of God who practiced what she preached. She will be ever remembered for her love , affection, hospitality she showed to all who met her at atleast once. A true inspiration to the many students she taught at Harford. Our condolences to the greiving family.

“ Miss Pickarts is etched in our memory , hard to erase from our hearts--the Verghese Family at Harford School. To me she left a legacy- the picture of taking me with her on her Sunday afternoon long walks to the villages around Moyamba through those dusty roads and hot afternoons to share the gospel- pulled at my heart strings to go back to SL years later. The Good Lord has allowed our paths to cross with a purpose and surely for a blessing! May her life continue to inspire many! -Jijie Mary Mathew

“ First, I would like to say that the deceased was a mother who dedicated herself, time and intellectuality help us, the children of Harford School. I know that Harfordians would always be grateful to for all her givings. May the good Lord send her perpetual light in her grave. I know within my soul that she is resting peacefully because she did God's work gracefully.

During my years at Harford, Ms. Pickarts showed committment, was helpful, protective of Harford Girls, and was a dedicated human being. In my words, a white in an African country, far away from the city of Freetown, lived in Moyamba for so long to educate girls was a complete pride and a blessing therefore, I am honored. However, i was not the perfect student, well as any other teenager. I will not say much but enjoyed teasing her, calling her pickarts..pickarts. She would turn around quickly and approach me. She would talk with her arms across and a finger close to her mouth like waiting to be answered. Once she leaves, I will start laughing provockingly. She loved keds and sandals, which was an easy to sneak on us and I was caught. She always used to correct me, wanted me to stay within the school bounds, and I would tell her that I am hungry. Her home smelled good well maybe different, and cookies were mostly available. The cook became a friend. A great woman with a great heart. Thank you for everything. May your love for us and your dedication give you an everlasting peaceful rest.

“ So many memories center around Virginia: it was her visit to the Philomath Evangelical United Brethren Church that started my journey toward Harford School for Girls in Sierra Leone; it was Virginia who helped me learn about and understand another culture; it was while living in her home in Moyamba that I first experienced what it was to be a schoolteacher; and it was years later, while living again with her in Moyamba that we got involved in the adoption of her namesake, Virginia Mariama Conteh who lives with me still in Philomath, Oregon. Virginia was indeed, sister and mother, and a presence in my life for which I will forever be grateful. ~~Anna Morford

“ Fond Memories of Ms. Virginia Mae Pickarts:

Ms. Pickarts loved carrying her pocket book and yes she did and I can attest to it. She told us that a lady must carry a pocket book at all times and that legacy still continues with us young ladies. Rabbiatu Kuyateh even started carrying her pocketbook at vesper times and we dubbed her “Ms. Pickarts”.

Ms. Pickarts loved to bake and I remember the sweet smell from her kitchen on Saturdays when she baked cakes. She was also remembered for her kindness to the Massaquoi family, who were neighbors of Kattie’s grandmother. Pa Massaquoi was Ms’ Pickarts Cook for many years and in return for his dedicated services to her, she adopted his entire family. She even helped some of the older Massaquoi kids to migrate to the United States.

Thank you for making us growup into charismatic and respected young ladies.

Sleep on Ms. Virginia Mae Pickarts, beloved, sleep and take thy rest, lay down thy head upon the Saviour's breast; we Harfordians love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best; Good night! Good night! Good night! RIPP!!
